We request articles and contributions for E-Newsletter. We also have a "FUN Quiz" section in the edition, where students who are in top 3 for consecutive three months shall be rewarded. So I request you to kindly participate in the same and send your responses at beriyaneha@gmail.com.

THE POWER OF POSITIVE AFFIRMATIONS

All of us have heard at least once in our lifetime, people saying this to us, “Be positive.” Why? Why should I be positive even if all I can find around me is negativity? The answer to this question is simple: we get what we attract or what we think. This has been named the ‘Law of Attraction’ in the book ‘The Secret’ by Rhonda Byrne. Many renowned personalities all over the world believe in the law of attraction and use it to their benefit. Our mind is a powerful tool which can work wonders for us.

As we know, there are always two sides of a coin. Similarly, any problem or situation has its pros and cons. It is upon us, whether we focus on the pros or the cons. If we’re looking at the good side of something, that’s called being positive. This makes us feel grateful and happy. On contrary, if we focus on the bad side, we become negative. This can make us feel any or most of the negative emotions like sadness, jealousy, insecurity etc. Scientific studies have shown that such negative feelings make our overall energy levels very low and we radiate that energy into our environment. Most of the time, people just think that something bad is about to happen and in the next moment, something bad actually happens. One might call it coincidence. Well, according to me, it’s law of attraction.

In the current scenario, I can understand that staying positive all the time is not easy. It is not easy when people around us are dying of hunger, viruses, floods etc. But that is why, it has become the need of the hour, since now we’re at a higher risk of becoming depressed. This is the reason why people are trying to become more health conscious and indulging in yoga and meditation as well. We must understand that our brain is also a part of our body, an essential part in fact. So if we eat good food to keep our physical body healthy, then why can’t we think right and be positive to keep our mental status healthy?

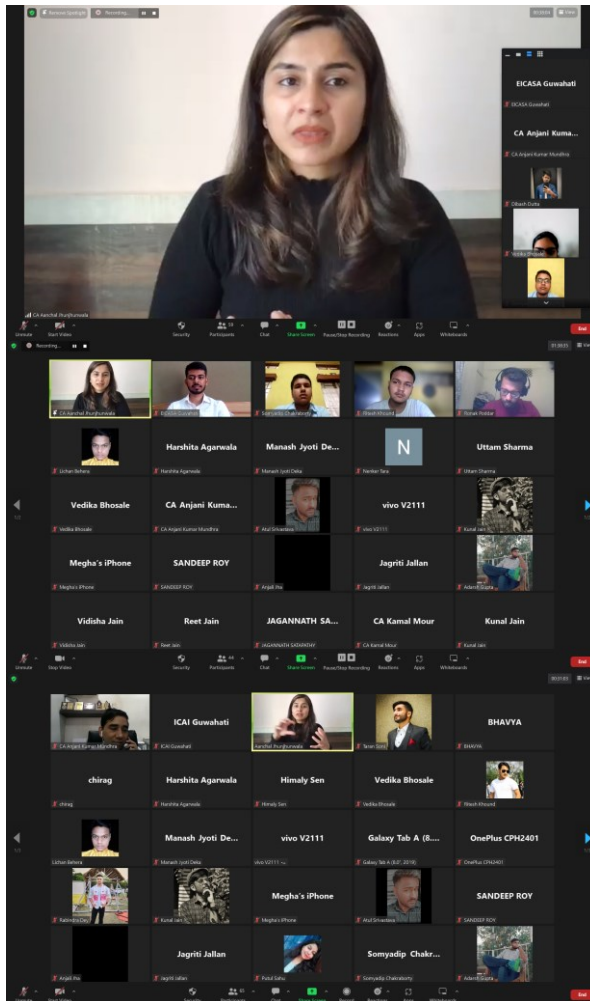

With this, I reach out to everyone, especially students to take care of their mental health as our thoughts turn into reality, and that is the power of Positive Affirmations!
